

Using insights from neuroscience, economics, philosophy and sociology to assess the social impact of actuarial work.

Competitive advantage

- Actively contributing to regulatory reform in financial services
- · Executive and non-executive level experience in industry
- Important contributions made to professional bodies and policy reform initiatives
- Expertise in a range of academic disciplines
- Ability to provide an insider's view on four decades of corporate culture and change in South Africa and Australia
- Convenor of the Actuaries Institute Retirement Incomes Working Group
- Academic and practical experience in product design and financial advice

Impact

 Helping the actuarial profession fulfil its social role by using product design, professional guidance and regulatory change to create financial security and reduce corporate greed.

More Information

Dr Anthony Asher

Risk and Actuarial Studies

T: +61 2 9385 7619 E: a.asher@unsw.edu.au

UNSW Knowledge Exchange knowledge.exchange@unsw.edu.au www.capabilities.unsw.edu.au +61(2) 9385 5008

Successful applications

- Work on greed and ethics is directly relevant to cultural and regulatory change subsequent to the Royal Commission
- Work on retirement incomes is directly relevant to Superannuation Funds' development of their Retirement Income Covenants

Capabilities and resources

- Product development, where benefits (and underlying investments) match the needs of the bereaved, the disabled and the elderly
- Professional education and regulation to support the development of judgement and justice
- Contributions to government policy